NEW CONTROL LAW SCORED BY PRESIDENT

Washington (AP) — President Truman said today the new economic controls law "weakens our ability to hold down prices and stabilize our economy."

In a statement, Truman in effect scolded Congress for not giving him the stronger powers he asked and lashed particularly at provisions limiting the Wage Stabilization Board to advisory powers in the future.

The change, as to the wage board, Truman said, "destroys the existing system without providing any substitute."

In this respect, he said "The Congress has opened a dangerous gap in the mobilization program."

Truman got out a 1200-word statement of his views on the new law. But at no point did he mention a provision requesting him to invoke the Taft-Hartley Act in an effort to end the steel strike.

The new law continued for 10 months powers to curb wages, prices and rents and to allocate scarce materials.

But some of these powers are whittled down instead of strengthened as Truman had asked. He also had requested a two-year extension of controls instead of the 10 months Congress voted.

Truman signed the bill yesterday and it is now law as the old controls law expired last midnight.

The Office of Price Stabilization, still studying the legislation, withheld formal comment. One OPS spokesman who asked anonymity said: "Every change in the act is calculated to raise prices substantially."

The new law keeps the lid on prices and wages generally for the next 10 months, until April 30, 1953. It continues authority for allocating scarce materials for a full year, until June 30, 1953.

Budget Deficit For Year Three Billion

Washington (AP) — The budget deficit for fiscal 1952 appears to be about three billion dollars—or 35 per cent less than President Truman predicted.

This was indicated as Treasury bookkeepers worked to get together today the final figures for the period, which ended yesterday.

With only a couple of days' government accounts to be tallied, prospects were for an outcome about like this, in round figures: spending, 67 billion dollars; income, 62 billion; resulting deficit, five billion.

The President estimated last January the deficit would be $8,200,000,000. But his spending figure of $70,900,000,000 has proved a big overestimate, and his revenue figure of $62,700,000,000 a bit over-optimistic.

WARREN BOY STUDIES SPANISH IN MEXICO

John Elliott, son of Dr. and Mrs. Russell Elliott, 314 East street, left last night for Saltillo, Mexico, where he will attend school during the summer at Inter-American DeVirano, to pursue the study of conversational Spanish.

John, who will be a senior when he returns to Grove City College this fall, plans to teach Spanish after his graduation.

Federal Communications Commission Is Sorting Out Applications for TV Outlets

Washington (AP) — The Federal Communications Commission (FCC) today began sorting out 315 applications for new television outlets, with prospects some may receive grants before the end of the month.

This was the first step toward a resumption of grants which FCC suspended in October, 1948, in order to create 70 new channels and deal with interference problems.

Final Details for Mammoth Celebration To Be Adopted By Committee This Evening

SECRETARY—Gordon E. Gillette, Williamsport, arrived in town this morning to join the staff of the YMCA as boys' work secretary until the return of Jim Hengst, on active duty with the U. S. Navy. Native of Athens, O., born in 1931, Mr. Gillette was graduated last month from Lycoming College and has been associated with the Williamsport "Y" as part-time secretary. He was also a vice president of the Pennsylvania YMCA Young Adult Council. First item on his local agenda is a visit to Camp Sherwin on Lake Erie today and Wednesday, assisting in breaking camp and returning the more than 70 boys to town and homes.

Spectacular Fire In Brooklyn Causes Damage in Millions

New York (AP) — Brooklyn's most spectacular fire in years may have caused damage of more than twice the million dollars originally estimated, it was indicated today. The multi-alarm blaze yesterday spread over a four-block area after breaking out in an old trolley barn being converted into a warehouse by the Shampans, Citron and Clark paper box manufacturing firm.

A spokesman for the company, after re-examining the general fire scene last night, said the losses "might aggregate two million or even three million dollars."

While he made his survey, firemen continued their search for the cause of the fire and continued to weed down the smoldering area.

The fire, one of the biggest and most costly in recent years, either destroyed or damaged 15 factory buildings and tenements in the area.

Some 400 persons were forced to leave their homes temporarily during the fire. Forty-two were burned out permanently from their dwellings.

One person, a watchman, was killed and 46 firemen and civilians were injured, none seriously.

Reds Attack Along Heartbreak Ridge

Seoul, Korea (AP) — A beefed up North Korean battalion attacking through deep mud hit Allied lines along a half-mile front in the Heartbreak Ridge sector of Eastern Korea last night. But it did not penetrate U. N. positions.

An Army spokesman said, "They came up in front of our positions and fired at us x x x but they did not try to penetrate our lines."

The Eastern Front has been relatively quiet in recent weeks in contrast to savage fighting in the West.

More than 750 North Korean Reds attacked on the East slope of Heartbreak Ridge and at three other points in the same sector after 1300 artillery and mortar shells fell on U. N. lines.

The American Legion Home will be the scene of intense activity at nine o'clock tonight when General Chairman Jack Barr will meet with all Junior Chamber of Commerce committee heads and committees to go over final plans for the great 1952 July 4-5 celebration arranged for this week-end by the Jaycees.

Mr. Barr feels that practically everything in connection with the celebration has been worked out in minute detail, but there are a few wrinkles to iron away and this is expected to be accomplished in short order. He asks that every person in any way connected with the celebration be on hand at the Legion tonight.

Coincidental with the selection of a beautiful queen for the Junior Chamber of Commerce July 4th celebration, Warren Borough officials and the Penelec will throw light on the subject by dedicating the Borough's new street illumination system at 9 p. m. Thursday Building.

Borough Manager L. M. McConnell announced today that the new downtown street lights should be completed in time for the ceremony of crowning the queen and that Burgess William Crockett,

PRIZE FOR BAND
Nat Drake, secretary of the Warren Chamber of Commerce, was at Chautauqua assembly Grounds last night when the opening concert was given by the VFW Military Youth Band of Girard, Ohio, the band which will give a concert in Warren at 7:30 p. m. Saturday in connection with the Jaycees' July 4-5 celebration.

Mr. Drake said the words "marvelous" and "wonderful" were entirely inadequate in describing just how fine the band is. "It was swell, that's all," said Mr. Drake. "It will be a treat for everyone in Warren."

Council President William E. Rice, and Brackett Ayers, chairman of Council's public service committee, will take part.

Selection of the queen will be made at the same time, and also on the Municipal Building steps. Dick Munch, chairman of the Jaycees committee for the crowning, has announced five judges and is after one more.

Those secured are: Mayor J. L. Hinaman, Bradford; Edward Byrne, editor and publisher, Jamestown Morning Sun; Raymond Hill, secretary of the Bradford Board of Commerce, and a former Warren man; Chief Rudolph Swanson, of the Jamestown Fire Department, president of the International Association of Fire Chiefs; Assemblyman E. Herman Magnuson, Jamestown, New York State legislator.

Gordon Elmquist, who heads the dance committee, has completed plans for that event, which will take place on Second street between Liberty and Pennsylvania avenue and at which time the queen will be crowned. She will be one of the following Warren county girls: Jo Ann White, Clarendon RD 1; Sandra Redmond, Jefferson street; Sabra Nichols, Willoughby street; Joann Smith, 209 McPherson street; or Ina Safford, Russell.

There will be both round and square dancing with music to be furnished by Mrs. Dorothy Engstrom's orchestra. Lester Akely will do the calling. Also, serving with Mr. Elmquist on the committee are Ralph West, and Al Buerkle. "Everyone from eight to eighty is invited," said Elmquist today.

TAMMANY HALL WILL SUPPORT ROOSEVELT

New York (AP) — Tammany Hall, which once opposed him and then supported him, has approved Rep. Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr.'s bid for reelection.

But New York state's Liberal Party, which sponsored him in 1949 in a special election which saw Tammany against him, so far has not taken any action. "Tammany and the Liberals supported him in regular election in 1950."

ANOTHER POSTAL HIKE

Washington (AP) — Users of the bulk third-class mailing privilege got a 30-million-dollar-a-year hike in their postal charges today. The long-standing minimum charge of 1 cent per piece went up to 1½ cents per piece—another of the staggered postage increases authorized by Congress last year to help wipe out the recurring postal deficit.

SMALL FIRMS SIGN UP WITH STEEL UNION

Pittsburgh (AP) — The CIO United Steelworkers plugged away today at the steel industry's small companies while top producers continued to ignore the union's demands for settlement of the 50-day steel strike.

So far the union has come to terms with 51 steel-producing firms, allowing more than 50,000 to resume work. The bulk of the union membership—about 600,000—is still waiting for a new contract.

Latest to sign is Harrisburg, Pa. Steel Corp., which employs 1,250 workers. The plant will resume production immediately.

The independent firm signed a pact last night calling for a wage increase of approximately 15 cents an hour, modified union shop, six paid holidays and three weeks vacation annually for 15 years service.

The modified union shop means new employees must join the union but can withdraw between their 20th and 30th day of employment.

Meanwhile, leaders of the union are meeting with other small companies across the nation but the sessions are closely guarded secrets—none of the companies has been identified.

One big reason for the secrecy is that the steelworkers' chief Philip Murray, fears the big producers will bring pressure to bear on the smaller firms and block possible agreements.

The big companies, such as U. S. Steel Corp., the nation's top producer, are bitterly opposed to the union shop issue. It was one of the recommendations the Wage Stabilization Board made when it attempted to avert the costly strike.

GAVIN HAS PRAISE FOR VENANGO RECORD

Washington (AP) — Rep. Gavin (R-Pa.) thinks some of the state government's budget makers could learn something from operations in Venango County in Gavin's home congressional district.

Gavin told the House in the Congressional Record yesterday that Venango County began the calendar year with a cash balance of $618,075.

"I would suggest," Gavin commented, "that the Bureau of the Budget send some of their experts up to Venango County to observe the businesslike and efficient manner in which the affairs of the county are conducted."

WOMAN IS SWEEPED TO DEATH OVER THE FALLS

Niagara Falls, N. Y. (AP) — Scores of tourists watched helplessly last night as a woman plunged into the Niagara River and was swept to her death over the American Falls.

The woman, Mrs. Josephine Stachowiak of nearby Cheektowaga, was identified through several notes found in a purse left with a coat at the scene of the jump near the cataract's brink.

Contents of the notes were not disclosed.

Relatives told police that Mrs. Stachowiak had been dependent over the death of her husband last fall.

SEN. MCCARTHY WILL TALK AT CONVENTION

Chicago (AP) — Among the Republican leaders who will address the GOP National Convention opening here Monday is one of the party's most controversial, Sen. Joseph McCarthy of Wisconsin.

Others who will follow the keynote speaker, Gen. Douglas MacArthur, include former President Herbert Hoover and Gov. John Fine, whose 70-vote Pennsylvania delegation would weigh heavily in a tight race for presidential nomination.

GASOLINE THEFT

A local youth was identified today as the person observed last evening in a car parked near a Warren County Dairy Co. truck, from which gasoline was being siphoned with the use of a hose.

At the police department it was reported the boy, a minor, admitted participating in the gasoline theft but said he had an accomplice. Disposition of the case will be announced later.

Clouds Cast Cool Shadows on Many Overheated Areas

By The Associated Press
Clouds were expected to cast their cool shadows on many overheated sections of the nation today with the heat wave of the past few days appearing on the wane.

The U. S. Weather Bureau reported that the first day of July would be quite warm in the Kentucky-Tennessee areas, which have had little relief during June.

But fair and pleasant weather, with the skies partly cloudy, was the forecast for sections around the Great Lakes, in the Midwest, the regions west of the Rockies, and along the Gulf Coast.

Sunny but pleasant weather was expected for the Northeast, which was fanned through the night by cool air from Canada, and for the Pacific and Northwest areas.

Leaders in Bizarre Robbery Sentenced

Carson City, Nev. (AP) — Mrs. Jeanne d'Arc Michaud, 36-year-old self-styled brains of the $1,500,000 Redfield burglary, yesterday was sentenced to five years in prison by Federal Judge Roger Foley.

Mrs. Michaud probably will be sent to the federal reformatory for women at Alderson, W. Va. She will become eligible for parole after serving 20 months.

Judge Foley also sentenced two others involved in the bizarre burglary of La Vere Redfield's Reno mansion in February.

Leona Mae Girdano, 40, Reno cocktail waitress, convicted of transporting $11,000 of the loot across state lines, was sentenced to a year and a day.

Benton Henry Robinson, 63, a dude ranch handyman and Mrs. Michaud's contact with the underworld, was sentenced to four years. He pleaded guilty.

Three others are awaiting trial in the case.

TWO WORKERS TRAPPED IN INDEPENDENT MINE

Lykens (AP) — Rescue workers today recovered the body of one miner and renewed search for a second man trapped by a slide in an independent coal mine in Upper Dauphin County.

The rescue workers found Ellis Kocher, 31, crushed to death beneath tons of coal about 40 feet from the surface.

They held out little hope that Allen Sedesse, 31, father of four children, would be found alive. The second trapped miner was believed to have been near the end of the 70 to 80 foot shaft when the slide came down yesterday.

Efforts to communicate with the trapped men, during early rescue operations, through tapping and other methods were without success.

Approval of Rent Agreement By Directors and Authority Is Announced By School Board

Formal approval of the rental agreement between the Warren Board of School Directors and the Warren Borough School Authority, which will result in ownership of the building by the school district in eight years, was announced at last night's meeting of the school board, and the board also held a most satisfactory conference with a committee representing Friends of South Street School.

The school board will pay $106,000 each year to the Authority, 25 per cent of which will be returned to the board as a reimbursement by the state. This latter figure will be variable, depending upon the estimated sale value of the property and the number of Warren students attending the school.

State Superintendent Francis B. Haas signed the approval for the Department of Public Instruction, and it was interesting to note that equipment for the big building was approved except for provision of two pianos, one health scale and drapes for the playground stage.

The committee representing the administrative council of Friends of South Street School was composed of Attorney James Frantz, James Miller, Mike Bova, Gerry Coates, Mrs. Ross Carlson and Richard McClement.

Meeting by appointment with the Board, the South Street group again expressed its earnest desire to have the two lower grades continued at South Street in the event the other grades are discontinued. Superintendent Carl E. Whipple agreed to study the spot maps and report back to the Board.

Answering the committee's questions in regard to future plans for South Street School, President Melvin G. Keller very frankly informed the South Street group that discontinuance of the school had been planned but in view of the agitation by East Side residents, the Board now finds itself in the position of not knowing exactly what will be done. "The Board, he said, is reconsidering and he promises the committee that before any definite action is taken the Friends of South Street School will be advised and given a chance to state any opposition which is felt."

Test results for the year were reported by Supt. Whipple. The progressive social studies test in the fifth grade resulted in a median mark of 67 while the average in the state is 50. With the average mark set at 50, the following results were reported: reading, test, fourth grade, 70, and sixth grade, 60; arithmetic, fifth grade, 50 plus; and languages, sixth grade, 58.

High School Principal Floyd Bathurst, Beaty Principal Herbert Harris, R. R. Young, J. B. Eldridge, A. F. Dunham and Henry Powell will attend a conference of principals and a conference of State College, July 29-31.

The National Safety Congress has asked that James Springer, driver training instructor, serve on a panel during its convention in Chicago in October, and his attendance was approved by the board.

Ralph E. Stres, Warren county Pennsylvania Week chairman, asked that another BIE day be held this year and this was approved.

The Board received the tax collector's report for 1951.

Engineers Oppose Any Further Consideration of Extension Of Navigation on Allegheny

Washington (AP) — Only four Democrats of Pennsylvania's 33 representatives voted for a bill which would continue through 1955 present price supports and parity formulas for cotton, wheat, corn, peanuts, rice and tobacco. Seventeen Republicans voted against the measure. They included Leon H. Gavin and Carroll D. Kearns.

HOW THEY VOTED

Washington (AP) — The Army district and division engineers have decided against further consideration of a navigation extension of the Allegheny-Genesee barge canal in Pennsylvania and New York.

The officers' report, to be released to the public July 3, states: "The prospective benefits expected to be realized from extension of canalization of the Allegheny River from the present head of navigation at East Brady, Pa. to Olean, N. Y. or any intermediate point would not be sufficient to justify the large expenditures which would be necessary to provide such improvement."

The reporting officers "further find that the cost of providing a through waterway for barge navigation via the Allegheny and Genesee Rivers and tributaries thereof would several times exceed the prospective benefits expected to be realized from such improvement, even under the most favorable conditions."

"Accordingly, the reporting officers recommend that no further investigation of these matters be made at this time."

The combined report on the two projects was received yesterday by Rep. Gavin, (R-Pa.).

The Allegheny-Genesee project concerned a connection with the New York state canal and the Great Lakes at one end and the Ohio River at the other. Thus, it was proposed, a barge connection would be provided between the Great Lakes and the Gulf of Mexico.

These other dates were suggested for other major game:

Bears, Nov. 17-22; squirrels and cottontail rabbits, Nov. 1-29; raccoons, Oct. 15 to Feb. 1; deer by bow and arrow, Oct. 13-25; buck deer, Dec. 1-13; antlerless deer, Dec. 14-15.

The Pennsylvania Federation of Sportsmen's Clubs, claiming a membership of nearly 200,000, had four major recommendations for changes in the state game code.

They are a full 30-day season on ruffed grouse, increased daily limit on gray squirrels, an earlier opening date for groundhog and a concurrent trapping season for muskrats and muskrats.

Gavin Insists America Must Abandon Appeasement Policy

Washington (AP)—Repeating his suggestion that secretary of state Acheson resign, Rep. Gavin (R-Pa.) told the House Friday that America must abandon what he called a foreign policy based on appeasement.

Declaring that "on the international scene we have been out-out-bargained, out-smarted, out-manuevered," Gavin said in a speech: "Every time a breeze wafts from the Kremlin, our leaders in Washington tremble anew, seeking a peace that is impossible to obtain while their blunders continue."

"They advocate appeasement and more appeasement. While they appease, the Soviet Union grows stronger in armaments and prestige," Gavin, a member of the House Armed Services Committee, said America was unprepared for the Korean War because the administration "was economy minded in the wrong place at the wrong time" and cut defense funds instead of non-defense funds.

He said it always has been America's policy to enter a war to win it, but the restrictions placed on our fighting forces in Korea have made "a clear-cut victory immeasurably difficult."

"How much longer can America survive the State Department's policy of retreat and defeat?" he asked. "How then can the State Department ever exert the kind of normal and spiritual leadership that the rest of the world is crying for?"

"We are a mighty and humane nation. We are too mighty for appeasement. We are too humane to support a senseless drain of blood in an endless treadmill war."

"Time is not on our side. Time is a full partner in the Communist conspiracy."

What we need, said Gavin, are "strength, courage and incisive leadership. . . new weapons and new techniques. . . new leadership in the State Department."

The Post Office Bulletin Board

Items of public and staff interest from the Warren Post Office

Notices were distributed last week advising downtown mailers of an extra, late collection to be made at 8 p. m. daily except Sundays and holidays from the following boxes: Corner Liberty and Pennsylvania avenue, Warren Bank & Trust Bldg., Warren National Bank Building, corner Hickory and Pennsylvania avenue, Carver Hotel. Patrons are again reminded that several earlier dispatches provide faster service to most points than this last collection of the day which has been established only as an added convenience to those who have been unable to reach the Post Office earlier. It's always safer and surer to drop your mail in the lobby slots—as early in the day as possible.

East Siders should familiarize themselves with the new location of the East Side Station (or "Branch" as most call it) in the Warren Electric Co. store at 318 Pennsylvania Avenue, East. The contract was awarded to Mr. Annoni, the proprietor there, on the strength of requests that larger and more centrally located quarters be provided for this facility. Everyone at the Post Office sincerely regrets the ending of a long and pleasant association with Sidney Erickson who has conducted the station since 1938 at 108 Penna. Avenue. It is hoped the new location will provide greater convenience and accessibility with service at least equal to "Sids". Best wishes are extended to Sid, and to Mr. Annoni the new contractor.

Mailers of 3rd Class (bulk) mail are reminded that the rate of this class advanced to 1½ cents, effective July 1.

A new procedure for ordering special request envelopes also becomes effective July 1st. It is similar and easier than the old system; provides for ordering by mail and delivery of envelopes by parcel post truck on arrival. Details may be obtained at mail windows or the office of the Assistant Postmaster.

Cast of Characters for "East Lynne" Is Announced by Arena Theater's Director

"East Lynne"—the daddy of all the old-fashioned meller dramas, the most talked of play ever written and the one that has elevated more actresses to stardom than any other play in the history of the theatre—will open on Thursday evening, July 10th in the YMCA Annex as the premiere presentation of Warren's new Arena Theatre.

The thirteen characters in the complicated plot have been carefully selected by director Richard Rapp and each member of the cast will delight the audience with interpretations that turn the immoral novel into a new and streamlined version—preserving the spirit of the old play, and at the same time, provide more laughs than any other old-fashioned "Meller" has ever done.

Bill Hill, Jr., a recent graduate of Dickinson College and now in the school of law there, will play the role of Captain Francis Levison, a tall handsome rogue who cloaks his crafty and villainous nature with a suave and polished manner. Bill has been active in college dramatics where he wrote and directed an original comedy for three years. Warren audiences in the past have seen him on stage in Players Club production: of the "Man Who Came to Dinner," "Junior Miss," and "Our Town."

Norma Haight, Warren and Youngsville actress and singer, will play the winsome Lady Isabel Vane whose grace and beauty is difficult to describe with mere words. In appearance she resembles a sunbeam! Norma has been pleasing Warren audiences with her fine performances in "Portrait in Black," "You Can't Take It With You," "Hay Fever," and last season in the musical "No, No, Nanette."

Archibald Carlyle is a tall, handsome, broad shouldered chap decidedly manly and virile and with an engaging personality. His part is taken by Reid Carlson. Reid comes to Warren from Ridgway and Penn State where he was active in dramatics. Recently he appeared in the Player Club show, "Silver Whistle".

Playgoers who attend "East Lynne" will welcome again the appearance of Dr. Anita Uhl, who is a psychiatrist on the staff of the Warren State Hospital. Dr. Uhl enacts the role of Cornelia Carlyle, an old maid, dictatorial and self-willed and ruling her brother Archibald with an iron will. Dr. Uhl calls Berkeley, California her home and while in the west was active with the Stanford Players and the Sacramento Players. For the Players Club in Warren she did "Ladies in Retirement" and "Riders to the Sea".

Lois Byham, of Kane, has become a favorite with Warren audiences for her performances in "Two Blind Mice," "Ladies in Retirement," the "Silver Whistle," and "Lady of Larkspur Lotion". She is a school teacher in Warren during the winter but now is commuting from Kane each night to rehearse for "East Lynne". Her part is that of Emma Vane, vain, frivolous, and socially ambitious.

Her husband, Raymond Vane, is played by Richard Mullhaupt another veteran of the Warren stage and a former member of the Allegheny College Playhouse. Dick is now employed at Struthers-Wells and as a member of Players Club was seen in "Hay Fever," "Two Blind Mice," "Ladies in Retirement," and "Lady of Larkspur Lotion".

Dorothy Benson is home from Clarion State Teachers College where she will be a senior next fall. Her versatility is being used to portray the role of Joyce, the kindly maid at East Lynne. Dorothy is a member of Alpha Psi Omega National Dramatic Fraternity and has taken leading roles in "John Loves Mary" and "The Showoff". She has also been student director for two college productions.

Frank Mitch is a newcomer to Warren but has already made himself known as an actor with his role in last year's show "The Man". Born in State College and a former student at Penn State, Frank is now employed at the Florida Company. His hobby is dramatics and in the Arena Theatre's first play, he will be John Dill, a fussy, under sized man of 60 with pure white curls!

Clarion State Teachers is contributing another of its students to the cast in Ned Salerno who will play the part of Richard Hare. Ned will be a senior this fall also and is active in the College Players.

Collette Mangus, a graduate of Warren High School in 1950, and now employed as a medical secretary in Warren portrays Barbara Hare. This will be Collette's first appearance on stage since taking part in high school dramatics productions.

Rounding out the cast is Carol Ludwick who takes the role of Mrs. Otway Bethel. Carol, also a recent high school graduate is now working at the Warren General Hospital.

Season tickets for the Arena Theatre's two summer shows are now being sold by members of the Warren Zonta Club with the proceeds to be used for their service welfare fund. Plans are being made to seat only 200 persons at each performance in the Y Annex so residents are urged to obtain their tickets as soon as possible.

EMMONS J. WADE

The high esteem in which he was held in the community where he spent his life was reflected in the many beautiful floral pieces that filled the room where he lay in the funeral home and the large crowd of relatives and friends who gathered to pay final tribute when services were held Monday afternoon for Emmons J. Wade, well known oil and gas operator.

Quiet and unassuming, but thorough-going in all he aspired to do, Emmons won and kept friends down through the years. A recent illness, first believed of minor nature, developed into an acute ailment that sapped his strength all too quickly.

Emmons Wade was an outdoors man. When he wasn't along a stream with his rod and reel or in the woods with gun and dog, he usually could be found roaming a lease inspecting oil or gas property. Regardless of where he was encountered he always had a quiet smile and friendly greeting - - - sincere attributes of the type of citizen who help to make any community an enjoyable place in which to live.

So far as becoming discouraged at reverses and disappointments, members of the Junior Chamber of Commerce helping to plan and stage the Fourth of July celebration are shock-proof. A schedule of interesting events has been arranged for the evening of the third, to be followed by the usual program on the Fourth, concluding with a crose Saturday afternoon and band concert and fireworks that evening. Stick around, there'll be a hot time in the old town this week-end.

YEARS AGO

Interesting Items Taken From The Warren Evening Times

1932

Last evening proved a happy event in the lives of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Cobb, North Irvine street, when their children entertained at a party in the American Legion Home in honor of their golden wedding anniversary.

Harold Hedges and Everett F. Hedges, of Pittsburgh, have arrived home to be the vacation guests of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Peter Hedges, Starbrick.

Lieut. R. L. Dennison, of the United States Navy, accompanied by Mrs. Dennison, arrived to spend some time visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Rowland.

A baseball feud will be resumed when State Hospital team will do battle with Warren Unknowns to decide once and for all which is the better team. Frank Draeger will be dishing them up for the Unknowns, with Hendrickson on the mound for the State.

Word has been received here that Merle Fitzgerald, popular Warren lightweight, has been signed to meet Young Sharkey, in one of the bouts in the open air show at Oil City.

War Bulletins Axis armies roll steadily eastward toward Alexandria. Allies bracing for decisive battle to decide Egypt's fate. . . . Reds repulse Nazi attempt to launch a new offensive. . . . U-boat toll in Atlantic is 328.

Major General Omar N. Bradley, at 49 one of army's youngest generals, has taken command of 28th Division, Pennsylvania's famed Iron Division.

Three from Warren are among representatives from western Pennsylvania cities in Washington, D. C. to attend a conference on clarification of gasoline rationing program and to attempt to have this area excluded permanently from the rationing zone. They are A. F. Kottcamp, Hugh Logan and James Frantz.

Arthur Landell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Landell, Russell, has just been notified that he has been awarded a $200 scholarship for study at Westminster College.

Here And There

With the various committees of the Junior Chamber of Commerce busily engaged making the last-minute arrangements for the big Independence Day celebration, it is interesting to recall how the occasion was observed 66 years ago, long before the advent of the progressive Jaycees organization. From the Warren Ledger of July 2, 1886, we reprint the following:

The various committees have about completed their arrangements for the celebration of the Fourth of July, next Monday, and the day will be ushered in by one hundred guns at sunrise. The procession will form at ten a. m., in the following order:

Keystone Band of Warren, 20 pieces.

Co. I, 16th Regiment, N. G. P. Eben N. Ford Post, G. A. R. Clarendon Fire Department. Tidouite Fire Department. Niagara Hose Co. No. 1, Warren Watson Hose Co. No. 2. Struthers Independent Hose Co. No. 1.

Exchange Hook and Ladder Co. Steamer

Fantastic procession.

Business houses on wagons.

Borough officers

Carriages.

Immediately after the parade and reading of the Declaration of Independence, the boat race, tub race, and swimming races will take place on the river, immediately in front of the Carver House, the tub race in front of the Walkerman cigar factory. The gates of the fair grounds will be thrown open at ten, and the balance of the long line of sports and games will be held there, the exercises to begin there with trotting, pacing and running races. Dancing will be held in the pavilion all afternoon, and in the evening a grand firemen's ball will be held at the rink, to which all are invited. At nine p. m. the display of fireworks will take place on Tanner's Hill, and no doubt will be a grand sight.

Federal Subsidy Is Shakedown Trouble of New Luxury Liner

BY PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON—(NEA)—The new $70 million super luxury liner, the S. S. United States, which will soon be put in service on the Atlantic passenger run to Europe, is having more than its share of financial shakedown troubles.

These troubles are perhaps best personified by the experience of John W. Hanes, chairman of the finance committee of the United States Lines, the company which will operate the vessel.

John Hanes, of New York and North Carolina, has for some years past been one of the most vocal and active opponents of high federal taxes.

As a former member of the U. S. Securities and Exchange Commission, as a former assistant secretary and undersecretary of the U. S. Treasury, and as an executive of many leading corporations like Old Industries, Ecusta Paper, Johns-Manville and Bankers' Trust Company, his words carry a lot of weight.

The current piece of literature in Mr. Hanes' campaign against high federal taxes is a four-page leaflet, "The Tax Review," published by the Tax Foundation, Inc., of New York, Copyright 1932. This allick paper monthly reprints a speech given by Mr. Hanes on May 5 before the Industrial Research Institute Conference, at Skypot, Pa.

THE following brief paragraph quotations will give the main idea of the text:

"The handout state philosophy starts with social security, and through subsidies, handouts, grants and assorted aids to individuals and groups, reaches a stage where the dominating force in the lives of the people is the federal government. . . .

"We must fight that trend to the bitter end. . . .

With this brief exposition on the views, the philosophy and the idealism of Mr. Hanes, turn now to a press conference held in Washington's swank Carlton hotel ballroom on June 14. Those who called the conference were John M. Franklin, president of United States Lines, and Hanes.

Purpose of the press conference was to promote the U. S. Lines' contention that the federal government carry out its original contract which would give the $70 million luxury liner to U. S. Lines for $28 million.

The difference between the cost of construction and the selling price is to be made up by $42 million worth of "subsidies, handouts, grants and assorted aids to individuals and groups," such as Mr. Hanes inveighed against in his quoted remarks above.

TWENTY-FOUR MILLION DOLLARS worth of this subsidy is to be charged up to the U. S. defense effort, so that the liner could be used as a military transport in time of war. The other $18 million is outright subsidy under U. S. maritime law, to equalize American shipbuilding costs with the lower costs in foreign shipyards.

U. S. Comptroller General Lindsay Warren is insisting that the contract for the construction of the S. S. United States be reviewed and the subsidy reduced.

Mr. Warren, one of the grandest watchdogs of the Treasury in Washington, is an ex-congressman from North Carolina. He shares completely the views of his fellow Tarheel, Mr. Hanes, that there are too much wasting of government money, too many subsidies and handouts, and too many high taxes.

Meantime, the House Merchant Marine committee has just approved a bill which would liberalize subsidies paid to U. S. shipbuilders. The committee apparently doesn't think subsidies are bad.

dum, formerly of the Times-Mirror staff, who has been holding down a responsible position with the Erie Times for several years, is representing the Erie Newspaper Guild at the national convention being held soon in California. . . . And that reminds us, George Blaisey, Erie county inheritance tax appraiser, who will be remembered as a quarterback on the Warren Redjackets Football team, is an avowed candidate for sheriff of Erie county. . . . A new eating place that is certain to become popular with folks who enjoy going up to Chapman dam for recreation, is being opened along the highway leading to the resort by Mr. and Mrs. George Hoffman, Follie Run, who have built an attractive new brick structure completely equipped for serving small or large crowds with delectable eats. . . . Mr. and Mrs. Louis J. Geigerich, with three members of their family, Carol, Louie John and Kathleen, have arrived from their home in Garden Grove, Calif., just outside Long Beach, and are visiting relatives and friends in the area, including Mrs. Geigerich's father, Eugene Musante, who resides with his daughter, Mrs. James Kelley and family, Venturatown, the Charles Musante, Cayuga avenue, and the Misses Bertha Geigerich and Margaret Lindberg, Morrison street. The Geigerichs have two other children, a daughter who is a Catholic nun, and a son who is studying for the priesthood.

Potpouri: Ben White says there will be racing at the Speedway both Wednesday and Friday evenings of this week, and in addition to the regular program of thrills he has some surprises that will make it worth while being on hand. . . . Received a copy of Volume 2, No. 9. Pleasant Township Fire Department News today, but must postpone the usual review until we have more time and space. . . . Miss seeing Jake Leidig in the lobby of the Post Office these mornings. . . . A wild life story drifted in Monday from the Ray Schmitz residence on the Warren-Jamestown road near the State Hospital bridge, when their two daughters Patty and Nancy, at play with other youngsters, had an encounter with a deer that was so friendly it approached within ten feet of them.

Kauffman - Fitting Wedding June 8th At Lawrence Park

Mr. and Mrs. Perry H. Fitting, 4016 Morse street, Lawrence Park, have announced the marriage of their daughter, Nyla Marie, to Pvt. Richard G. Kauffman, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Kauffman, 7 North Grandview avenue, Pittsburgh, and formerly of Warren.

The ceremony took place Sunday June 8, in Lawrence Park Methodist church, the Rev. J. W. Hawley and the Rev. Dwight Jack performing the double ring ceremony before an altar banked with palms and white gladioli.

Wearing imported lace and nylon marquette, styled with fitted bodice and full skirt, the bride carried a bouquet of stephanotis centered with a white orchid. Her veil of nylon illusion net was attached to a pearl headpiece.

Shirley Kauffman, sister of the bridegroom, was her maid of honor, with Joan Hossman of Girard and Mrs. James Alloway of New Jersey as bridesmaid and bridesmatron, respectively. Miss Kauffman wore lavender nylon, while the bridesmaids wore light green nylon and had pink carnation bouquets.

Encourage Child to Assume Responsibility of Summer Job

SUMMER vacation is the ideal time for teaching school-age children to take on some of the responsibilities of family living. Parents who let their school-age children do nothing but play for the three vacation months are missing a good bet.

During those three months, when Mom has the sole care and guidance of the children, is the time to get them started assuming a little responsibility.

A boy can take over the care of the yard—for pay. A girl can start learning some of the homemaking skills that will serve her all the rest of her life.

And if the children are old enough, they can be encouraged to get out into the neighborhood and line up a few paid jobs for themselves.

The easiest way to encourage, of course, is to get a child interested in earning money for a certain thing, whether it is two weeks at camp, a gun, or any other objective.

TELL HIM YOU'LL MATCH WHAT HE EARNS

ANOTHER encouragement is to tell a child that whatever he earns strictly on his own his parents will match. That helps if the thing he is working for costs so much that he figures he never will be able to earn it all.

Of course, getting the children working is of no real value to them unless they are held to some sort of standards.

The other day I heard a little boy bragging that he had been paid by a neighbor to mow the neighbor's lawn, and that very afternoon the man who paid him for the job went out himself and did it over.

That boy didn't learn anything of value. All he got out of the experience was the feeling that he had pulled a fast one—collecting for a job done so poorly that it had to be done again.

So whether they are working for you or for a neighbor, see to it that the job passes inspection before it is called done.

In the club parlors, the regent presided for a business session of the chapter, with Miss Harriet Eaton elected delegate and Mrs. Green, Castile, N. Y., as alternate to the Pennsylvania DAC assembly in Philadelphia in October.

Success of Reunion Assures Another By Class '42 Members

Over 130 classmates and friends renewed old acquaintances and exchanged greetings at the WHS Class of '42 reunion held at Old Oakview Lodge Saturday.

Out of town classmates were especially well represented, having traveled from such cities as Dayton, Cleveland, Rochester, Philadelphia, Buffalo, Caledonia, Pittsburgh, and New Milford, N. J.

Most of the afternoon was spent in reminiscing over the "Old Days" but a few of the more energetic ones played softball, while others enjoyed a fast game of bingo.

Directly following the picnic dinner, which was served at 6:30, the committee chairman, Leon Christiansen, read letters from classmates unable to attend. The reunion committee was introduced by the chairman, who expressed appreciation for their willing help.

Other committee members were: Georgia Splunney, Elaine Smith, Susie Kifer, June Finberg, Dick Rapp, Ebel, Janice Lincoln, Arlene Menard, Nina Greenwald and Fae Christiansen.

Richard C. Johnson, class president, spoke briefly and thanked the committee for a job well done.

Mel Greenwald, program chairman, then awarded prizes to several persons and made special mention of Jim Plateroti, who traveled 400 miles to attend the reunion. Jim expressed the feeling that if he were 5,000 miles away next reunion time he would be back!

The group then gathered at the lodge, where they were entertained by Dick Rapp and some impersonations.

Dancing completed the program of the day and the last goodbyes were said a 10:30 p. m. Response to the reunion was so enthusiastic that another one in five years is almost assured.

In the days before the white man came, Kentucky was known by the Indians as "The Dark and Bloody Ground" because of the wars between the Iroquois and Cherokees for its possession.

A reception for 200 guests followed in church parlors, where a wedding cake topped with miniature bridal figures and silver bells rested beneath a white wedding bell used for the wedding of Mr. and Mrs. LaShure 32 years ago and for the marriage of the brides' sisters six years ago. Completing the setting were low bowls of summer flowers and yellow candles in low crystal holders. Bradford Is Hit At Grotto Convention

Mr. and Mrs. Leo D. Gleese, Redwood street, have returned from Toronto, Canada, where they attended the annual convention of the Supreme Council of the Mystic Order of Veiled Prophets of the Enchanted Realm, the former being a delegate from Farrah Grotto in this city.

They were surprised and pleased to discover that it was the clowns from Bradford's Oak Grotto who stole the show in the big parade. They wore false shoes, feet, hair and noses and pranced to the uneven strains of their own out-of-step music. They distributed candy and balloons to children and flowers to the ladies, and generally dispersed the military atmosphere created by their brethren further up the line of march.

All the supreme officers moved up in line of office with O. Carlyle Brock, of Erie, being elected grand monarch. Edward Soward, of Al Hassan Grotto, Mobile, Ala., was elected grand venerable prophet.

It was reported to the convention that the organization last year contributed a total of $183,402.66 through the Supreme Council, for its welfare work in aiding spastic children.

Busy Schedule For Cubs in Pleasant

A family picnic at Wildcat Field on Sunday, July 13th will highlight Township Cub Pack No. 46. The July program of the Pleasant Cubs will pay a visit to the Rouse Hospital dairy farm in the afternoon.

On Wednesday, July 16, Walker's Creamery Products Co., will play host to the boys for a tour of the plant on Union street.

Another trip planned by the Pack Committee is a visit to the home of Anderson's Bread on Wednesday, July 23rd.

All Cubs are urged to keep these dates in mind and to watch the paper for more details.

In August, it is planned to visit a lumber camp, a saw mill, and a furniture factory.

Pack committee chairman, Gerald Ruhlman and Cubmaster Lee M. Schaeffer announce that no formal den meetings will be held during the summer with the expectation of starting in September with four new Den Mothers to carry out the program as outlined by the Warren County Council.

CELEBRATION NOTES

Tonight!
Nine o'clock!
At the Legion Home!
Celebration Meeting!
Last and Most Important!

The crowd that turned out at the "bleacher work bee" last evening at War Memorial Field was large, enthusiastic and ambitious. It is doubtful if any crew ever accomplished more in one evening.

Late entries in the big parade on the morning of the Fourth are several of the saddle clubs in the area, which will make an imposing showing in the last division.

And don't forget the selection and crowning of the queen will take place in front of the municipal building Thursday evening at 9:00 o'clock, with a street dance following. Incidentally, one thing that has been emphasized at committee meetings is that Jaycees and their ladies are expected to join in the fun.

If you haven't secured hunting or flags for decorating purposes on the Fourth, better get busy. The committee is anxious to see Pennsylvania avenue from Union street to Conewango and the route to Beaty school a-flutter with the national colors when the parade marches by.

Parade entries are being received in almost every mail. And that reminds, they will be accepted up until Thursday evening. Just call Ben Kinnear at the Kinnear Store, or Ed Lowrey, editorial rooms, Times-Mirror.

Announcement that the La crosse game has been changed from 9:30 Saturday morning to two o'clock in the afternoon, was pleasing news to hundreds of residents who were hoping to "sleep in" Saturday morning without running a chance of missing some of the excitement. The game will be played at Beaty Field and will be well worth seeing.

Jack Barr, Celebration Chairman, and Milt Dahler, parade chairman, join in requesting a large turnout at tonight's meeting when all the last-minute details will be reviewed and many important decisions made.

As usual Ben Kinnear, chief of staff, is doing a swell job in compiling the important official parade orders.

Gerry Waxman is going to have to pay off a bet at tonight's workfest at War Memorial Field. He bet Milt Dahler that not over 20 would turn out last night to help set up the bleachers borrowed from Wilder Field, but 28 Jaycees put in an appearance and the work was entirely accomplished. There's more work to be done tonight in putting up the snow fence, so please be on hand at 6 o'clock.

There was a fine turn-out of division chiefs and aides at the Legion last night, for final briefing

Repairs Discussed At Board Meeting

Sugar Grove—A long list of repairs was up for discussion at the regular meeting of the joint board of the Sugar Grove-Farmington school board. Discussed were new exits in the auditorium and gymnasium and insulation for the ceiling in the gym. The board urged the cooperation of the Sports Boosters Club in the latter project in order that the cost might be lessened.

Bills ordered paid included janitors' and general school supplies. There was a general discussion on written contracts for custodians in the schools and the committee, Mr. Cody, Mr. Skinner and Mrs. Gerald Miller, will continue at this work.

The board still has two faculty vacancies, it was reported, a commercial instructor and teacher for girls' physical education.

In attendance at the session were Mrs. Robert Walter, Mrs. Hazel Keys, Dale Skinner, Floyd Marsh and Emerson Spicer, for Farmington; Alden Abbott, John Chandler and Arthur Cody, Sugar Grove township; Mrs. Roy Briggs, Dr. A. A. Grant and Travers Stohberg, Sugar Grove.

Strange Passage

By William Lynch

Chapter 11
HIS brain still somersaulting at the immensity of his crime, Gardiner made fast time back to Number Thirteen, where he stood opposite the house for a few minutes in order to discover if Melisande had returned in his absence. Then with a few, long, unburied steps he was across the street and within the house itself.

His first sight of the untidy room brought a great wave of fear and loneliness but instinct told him that he must cast out panic and set about removing all traces of Kate's presence in the lower room.

There was neither haste nor panic in his cold and deliberate survey of the place where Kate had sat and drunk. Beginning with the table, he carefully washed Kate's glass, taking care to remove any trace of rouge from the rim. His own glass he filled to the brim. With a quick swallow he returned to the ash-tray and selected the red-tipped butts and these he painstakingly crushed out, and the residue of paper he burned to ash. His own cigarette butts he left untouched. From a cupboard he took a vaporizer and soothed the room with the acrid smell of fly-spray, and no longer was there the lingering aroma of eau-de-cologne. He was finally satisfied that no trace of Kate's occupancy remained. He took his glass, then, and sat in the armchair, the better to scrutinize his handiwork and adjust his mind to the new set of conditions that the evening had brought.

The main thing to keep in mind was that it probably would be some time before Kate's absence from the room would be remarked on. As far as he knew, she had neither friends nor relatives; certainly she had never mentioned them. Some said her father was still alive and was a laborer in the wharves, but nobody apparently had ever spoken to him. A week, say, before she was posted missing. By that time any marks of strangulation should have disappeared from her throat.

There remained the possibility of somebody stumbling upon the body lying in Wade's hole. It was dead as the thing that lay crumpled in the mud and debris of Wade's Hole. In the light of tonight's hectic events, who would make so bold as to say that the past was inescapable and that only the blameless knew the warmth of the sun?

HE was more than ready for Melisande when she came. At her knocking he swung open the door and caught her tightly in his arms.

"I was lonely," he said.

"Why, Paul, had I known that I'd have stayed at home," Melisande sniffed the heavily-laden atmosphere of the room, and grimaced.

"Fly-spray. And not an open window."

With which she went round the room opening all the windows. Then, impulsively, she ran towards Paul, who was back in his chair, and took up her favorite position at his feet.

"If you were to be lonely, darling, why did you talk me into going to the theatre? I'd have much rather been with you, you know."

"I know," Gardiner gently stroked her hair, feeling its soft texture. "I'd no idea I'd be lonely, Sandy. Also, I had to work."

"Did you work, then?"

"No."

"Why not?"

"I told you. Chronic loneliness. It's a curse."

"That's strange, coming from you."

"I did read it."

"Then you must know what I'm trying to say. She caught his arm. "Please, Paul, don't send me to a theatre again."

Gardiner squirmed away.

"What you're trying to say is that you don't want me to be alone. That's it, isn't it?"

"Yes."

"Then all the king's horses and all the king's men will never separate the Gardiners again. Now go to sleep."

Gardiner rolled his head to one side and allowed his lips gently to brush her hair.

"Paul—you don't really love me, do you?"

"No, but I'm in favor of our marriage. Aren't you?"

"I don't know. I—don't—think—so. There has to be love, Paul," Gardiner grunted.

"Who told you that? The local vicar?"

"Paul—I've never heard you talk like this before."

"You've never seen me drunk before. When a man's drunk he says the things he only thinks when he's sober."

Melisande stared wide-eyed towards the ceiling. What strange kind of creature was this who lay beside her, his head heavy upon her shoulder, and his voice thick with liquor and mystery? There were so many things she wanted to say to him, now, so many things she wanted him to say, too. Quickly, there sprang into her mind an imp of doubting, a fleeting, unhappy thought that possibly she'd been precipitated in entering into a marriage with Paul, of whom she knew less the more she attempted to study him. Yet he fascinated her beyond anything else in her life.

Paul was talking. It was neither the confused murmurings of a drunk nor the staccato little passages of one talking in his sleep, but a weird of both.

She heard him say "Kate" three times, and then "Katie." He seemed to dwell with this thought for a few minutes and then there was a veritable rabble of broken and distorted phrases.

Melisande half raised herself from the pillow and stared down into the sleeping face.

Chapter 12

PAUL reached for another drink. He quaffed it down and nodded towards the bottle, now three parts empty. "There stands a monument to loneliness. An almost empty bottle."

Melisande stunted the bottle to see for herself.

"Did you really drink all that, Paul?"

"Why not?"

Melisande laughed.

"O.K., darling. You don't have to be dogmatic about it. I was merely inquiring."

"Dogmatic? Rubbish! Did you enjoy the theatre?"

"Immensely. It was a murder story with a new angle."

"Angle?"

"This chap killed his wife. She kept nagging him. The police knew he did it, but couldn't prove it. So a smart detective set a trap for him."

"Trap?"

"Well, it was very complicated. But the upshot of it was that he was forced to go back to the spot where he'd dumped his wife's body. Then they caught him."

Gardiner examined this story. Then:

"Is that all? There's nothing new about a killer returning to the scene of his crime, is there?"

"I expect there isn't, Paul. But it was the way they—anyhow, I liked it. Now, apart from swilling liquor and being miserable, what else did you do to-night?"

Gardiner shaded his eyes and spoke cautiously. "I read the paper from beginning to end—even the advertisements—and after that I tried to work but it was no use. So I came in here and set about methodically to be disconsolate."

"And that's all you've done?"

"Only that," Gardiner tensed. "Do you disbelieve me, then?"

Melisande sank back, slightly startled.

"Disbelieve you? Of course not! Why should I?"

"Why should you, indeed? Unless, of course, it is the nature of women to disbelieve."

"Paul, you're becoming morbid. I think. Let's put the bottle away and turn in."

Gardiner reacted by pouring another drink.

"It's a cardinal rule of mine," he murmured, "to finish anything I once start." He held the glass high. "Here's to us, Sandy. May luck pursue us for the rest of our days—and never catch up."

"I'm not certain that I like that toast," Melisande smiled, "but if it helps us get to bed I'll pass it."

Melisande removed his shoes and socks while Gardiner slumped heavily against the back of his chair and contemplated her with slight bloodshot eyes.

"A moment ago you said something about a trap."

"You mean the picture?"

"Yes. What kind of a trap?"

"They merely got hold of somebody who resembles the dead wife and arranged for her to kind of haunt him."

"Haunt? How could she do that? He did kill the woman, didn't he?"

"Yes."

"Then, what nonsense! The man must have been an imbecile!"

"Anyway, he fell for it and finally he had to make sure that his wife really was dead."

"Imbecile! Moron! Good God! Fancy falling for that kind of trap."

"You're drunk, Paul. I'll get you pyjamas."

HIS eyes loosely followed her across the room and their brightness held a glint of sullen.

"You represent everything I've never had, Sandy—dignity, pride, strength, class. For me to enter into marriage with all that would be a form of sacrilege—a union of heaven and hell."

Later in the darkness Melisande said, after a long pause, "I don't want to go out alone any more."

"What's on your mind?"

"I was scared to-night. This a bad part of town. After reading that thing in the paper to-night."

"What thing?"

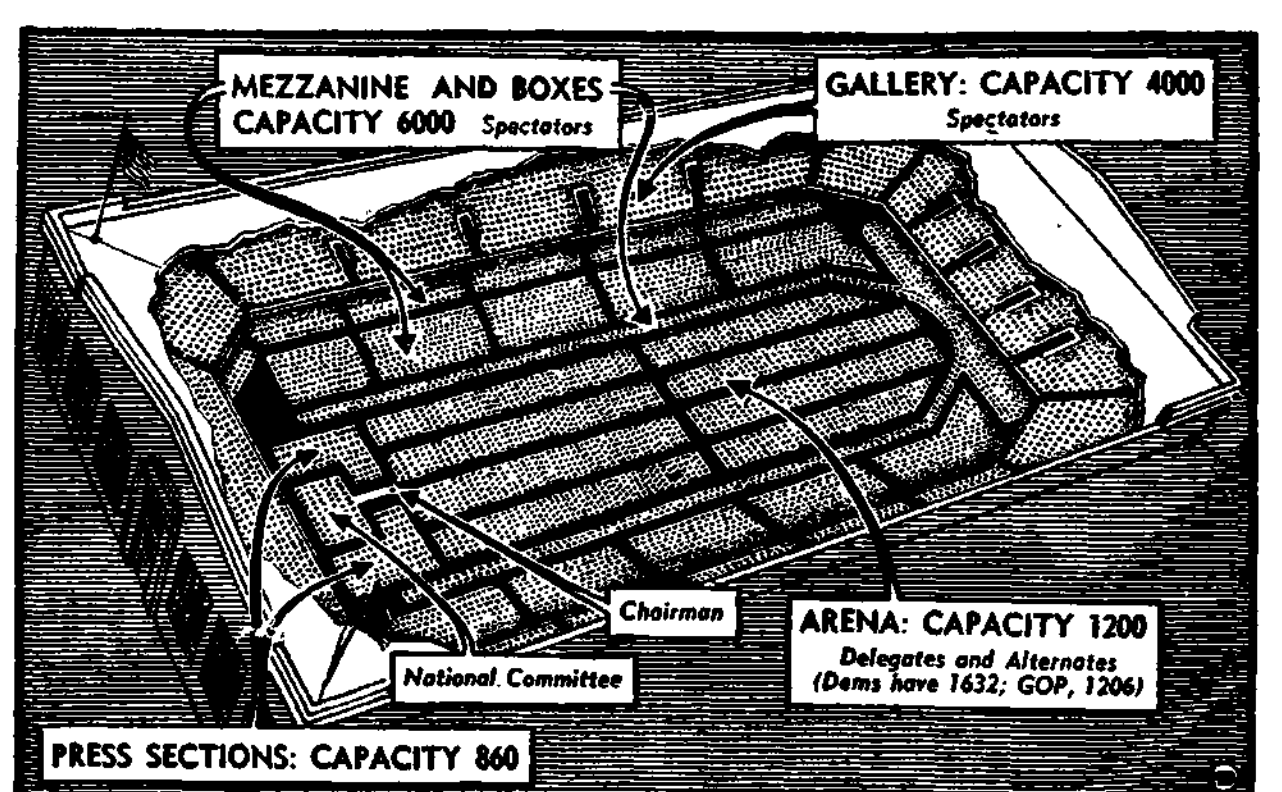

"The front page was full of it. That business at Glebe."

"I didn't notice it."

"You must have. That girl—"

"What girl? Oh, go to sleep, Sandy."

"But you said you read the paper?"

MUST WE NOT INSIST ON A MORAL PURPOSE
FOR OUR GOVERNMENT?

ISN'T IT A FACT that every individual is endowed with different faculties and talents when he receives his gift of LIFE from God?

And doesn't every individual receive from God
the LIBERTY to use those faculties to shape his own life—to make his own living?

And doesn't every individual also receive from God the right to what he earns from his work and the right to his savings—the right to his PROPERTY?
For what is PROPERTY but an extension of the LIBERTY to use your God-given talents?

LIFE, LIBERTY, PROPERTY—THESE THREE GIFTS
OF GOD PRECEDE ALL MAN-MADE LAWS AND ARE SUPERIOR TO THEM.

Therefore, the moral purpose of government must be to protect these God-Given rights of every individual, so —

THE PURPOSE OF OUR GOVERNMENT MUST BE—

"TO MAKE AND ENFORCE LAWS WHICH
PROTECT EVERY INDIVIDUAL'S LIFE, LIBERTY
AND PROPERTY FROM THE INTERFERENCE
OF ANY OTHER INDIVIDUAL OR GROUP—
AND THESE LAWS MUST PROTECT THE PEOPLE FROM GOVERNMENT ITSELF."

All history proves that when a government does not have this purpose it becomes immoral!!

GUIDE TO FREEDOM
JUDGE ALL LAWS BY ASKING THIS QUESTION—
"DOES THIS LAW PROTECT EVERY INDIVIDUAL
IN HIS GOD-GIVEN RIGHT TO LIFE, LIBERTY
AND PROPERTY FROM THE INTERFERENCE
OF ANY OTHER INDIVIDUAL OR FROM GOVERNMENT ITSELF?"

Jointure Meeting At Spring Creek Soon

County Superintendent of Schools H. L. Blair said today that arrangements are being made for a meeting, the date of which is yet to be announced, of residents of Spring Creek township at which time the proposed Corry Area Jointure of schools in Columbus, Concord, Spring Creek and Wayne townships will be explained. This proposed jointure would centralize grades from one through six.

Mr. Blair said today that there is no possibility of Spring Creek township losing its new school building at West Spring Creek, and that it will probably be in use for many years hence. There are approximately 90 students in the school at present.

At the present time Spring Creek grades seven through twelve attend school in Corry.

By placing jointure on a 100 per cent basis, the jointure would receive an additional appropriation of just under $18,000 from the state each year, based on $400 for every 30 students.

50 - Year - Old Roadster Is Parade Entry

—Courtesy United Refining Co.

This is the 50-year-old curved-dash Oldsmobile Roadster which will be the entry of the United Refining Company in the Fourth of July Parade in Warren. The antique car, able to run under its own power, will be piloted by its owner, Burrows H. Gilbert of Buffalo, shown above with his wife, both in old-fashioned costume.

The United Refining Company will be represented in the Junior Chamber of Commerce Fourth of July parade in Warren by a 50-year-old curved-dash Oldsmobile Roadster in good running condition. This entry was chosen because the United Refining Company this year is celebrating its Golden Anniversary.

The automobile is owned by Burrows H. Gilbert of Buffalo, an antique car collector. He will drive it from Buffalo to Warren and back under its own power. It also will travel the route of the parade on its own power.

The 50-year-old car is considered perfect in every respect. It has its original wood body and wire wheels and Mr. Gilbert has restored its paint. It is equipped with a renovated set of Gray & Davis kerosene head and tail lamps and self-generating carbide spotlight.

velops 4½ horsepower. The original carburetor is still on the engine and the car is lubricated through the grease cups that were installed when the car was first built.

This model of the Oldsmobile is one of the few cars ever made which could be cranked from the driver's seat. Most old cars were cranked from the front, though the first Cadillacs were cranked from the side. The car weighs 980 pounds, compared with about 3000 pounds for light cars today. It has a gear shift lever with reverse and two forward speeds. Cruising speed is 25 miles an hour. Currently it has size 28x3 pneumatic tires.

from sunrise to sunset, I covered 250 miles."

Wherever the car has been, it has received recognition and awards. It won first prize trophies in the 1949 and 1950 Ghidini tours. It also won a first prize in the 1950 Finger Lakes Tour from Buffalo to Geneva, Ithaca, Elmira and Watkins Glen.

There are many species of kangaroo on New Guinea, but none are larger than fox terriers.

remost Guernsey rd Presented To llege by Penney olumbia, Mo.—J. C. Penney, n store founder and native ourian, has given the 'Univer- of Missouri the world-famous smost Guernsey dairy herd and r assets with a total value es- at three-fourths of a mil- dollars.

resident Frederick A. Middle- h announced that Mr. Penney's includes all of the property, ownments, and assets of the emost Guernsey Association poration of New York, which recently dissolved by the New k courts, at Mr. Penney's re- st, to permit transfer of title the University. The Associa- 's assets include the farm land, idings, and equipment at Hope- l Junction, New York—where famous herd was founded more n thirty years ago—as well as h, stocks, and bonds.

'he Foremost herd of some 250 tie, one of the country's finest ebred herds and valued con- vatively at $200,000, will be ight to Missouri and, in ac- e with Mr. Penney's wishes, eptuated by the University's llege of Agriculture.

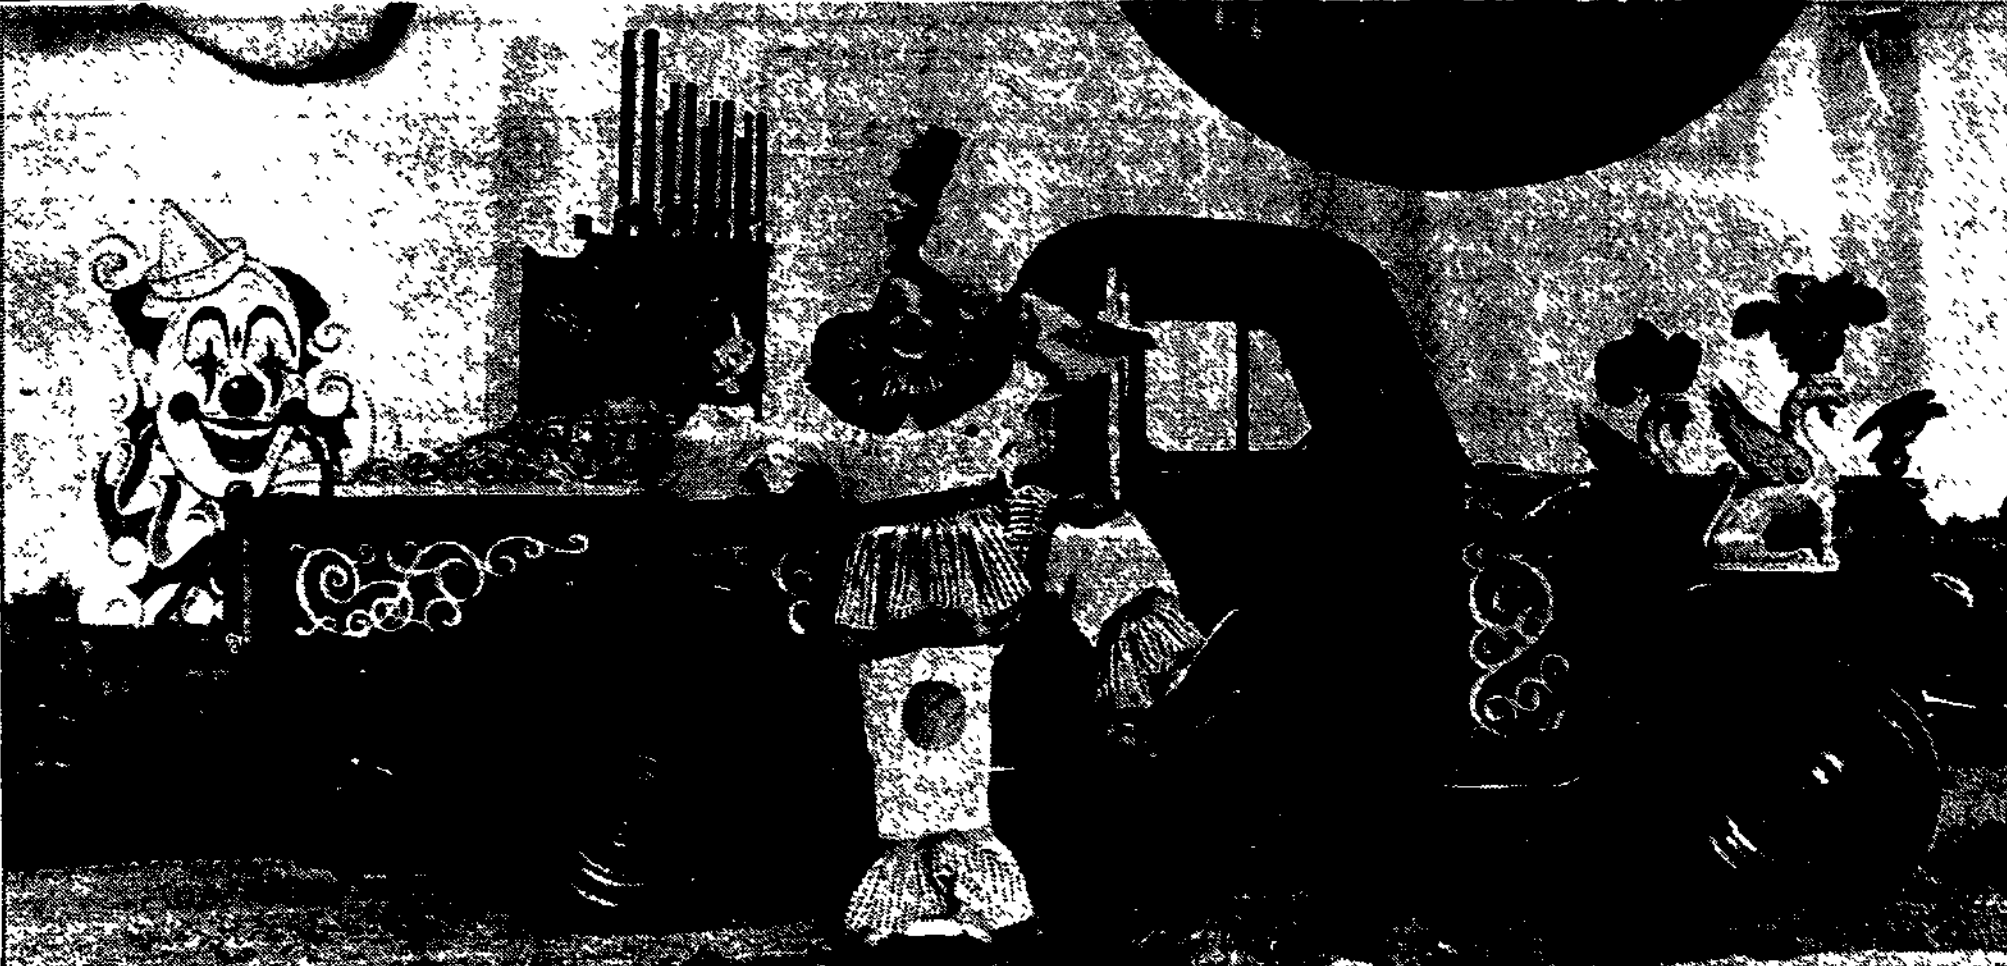

Mr. Penney has specified that property in New York may be d and the proceeds used to buy a equip a farm near Columbia maintenance of the herd. Present Middlebush said the name oremost Guernsey" will be re- ned, as requested by Mr. Pen- y.

Mr. Penney said it is his wish at the income from the assets d from the farm and herd op- ons of the Foremost Guernsey rd "be used as deemed best by e University in the further de- velopment and improvement of the rd and farm and for such re- arch, teaching, demonstration, d additional activities as may be nsidered appropriate by the Uni- rsity and related to the general jectives."

Mr. Penney asked that the herd maintained on a University rm by the Department of Dairy bsandry, whose chairman, Prof. thur C. Ragdale, has served on e Board of Directors of the Fore- ost Guernsey Association since 1930.

Lawrence R. Rainey of St. Al- ns, Mo., widely recognized as a ading Guernsey breeder, has been ppointed superintendent to man- ge the Foremost Guernsey herd id farm for the University. He ill assume his duties early this mmer.

In building his herd, Mr. Penney rchased only four bulls, the oth- aires having been produced ithin the herd. He first bought angwater Foremost for $20,000.

YOU'LL SEE HIM IN THE INDEPENDENCE DAY PARADE: Here's Bobo, the Clown, and his steam caliope, sponsored by the Culligan Soft Water Service, which will be one of the entertaining features of the parade in Warren next Friday.

Then he acquired Langwater Val- or, one of whose daughters, Valor's Faithful, set a world record with 20,017 pounds of milk and 9765 pounds of butterfat as a 5 year old. The third sire, Moxter May Royal, was bought in 1925 for $23,000. The fourth sire, Shore- wood Resolute, was Grand Cham- pion at the National Dairy Show in 1924 and 1926. These bulls have sired scores of record-winning pro- geny, both male and female, and have made it possible to select even finer sires during the past twenty years from within the herd.

Some of the famous sires which will be moved to Missouri are: Foremost Footprint A. R. (Ad- vanced Registry), Foremost Acme A. R., Foremost J. C., and Fore- most Quantity's Footprint. These sires combine the greatest blood- lines of the breed.

Perennial Flowers Prefer A Rugged Outdoor Life

Growing perennial flowers from seed is so easy and satisfying it is surprising that so few amateur gardeners try it. It is easier to start a long list of lovely varieties from seed sown now, than to start annual flowers and vegetables under protection in the spring.

The reason is that perennials will grow in the open, without artificial heat, from the time the seed is sown until they bloom. All you have to do is to sow the seed, in a flat, or seed-bed, and give it the same attention you would a vegetable crop.

A flat is advisable for beginners. A standard size, 15 x 24 inches, will grow all the seed in an average packet of the following easily grown biennials and perennials:

Anchusa, columbine, carnations, delphiniums, sweet williams, dian- thus, Shasta daisies, hollyhocks, pyrethrum, gaillardia, hibiscus.

Though few of the difficulties and diseases which threaten the indoor seed box are present in the sum- mer, it is best to fill the flat with good potting soil, a third each of sand, peat or humus, and sifted top soil. A thin layer of sphagnum moss sifted over the top will pro- tect the seeds from fungi. Seeds may be broadcast evenly over the flat, unless several varieties are to be sown in the same flat; in which case, sow them in rows. Cover lightly with soil, or sifted sphag- num, water thoroughly, and place in a shady spot until the seeds ger- minate. This often takes longer than with annuals and vegetables, so be patient, and keep the seed box moist.

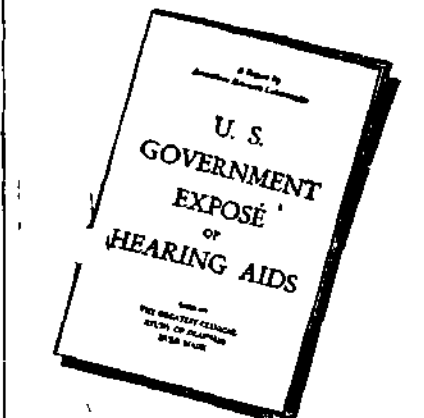

When the seeds sprout, place the box where it can get at least six hours' sun a day, plus the rain and irrigation water which falls on your other garden plants. It may need some extra water during a dry spell, since a box of porous soil will dry out quickly. But these hardy flowers require no coddling, and by fall some may be large enough to set out in the garden border.

In gardens with heavy soil, which is inclined to stay wet, it will be Sweet Williams are biennials.

Friend, Dickson and Houtteman Absorb The Most Defeats

By JOE REICHLER
AP Sport Writer

Bob Friend and Murry Dickson appear destined to become the first Pittsburgh pitchers to lose 20 games in one season while Art Houtteman is well on his way to absorbing the most defeats in Detroit's American League history.

Each of the trio has dropped 11 decisions to gain the dubious distinction of being the "losingest" pitchers in the majors. Friend and Houtteman lost their 11th game yesterday and their seventh in a row. Dickson lost his 11th Saturday.

All are toiling for last-place outfits.

Since Detroit has played 68 games, Houtteman stands to lose 25 this year unless he undergoes a complete reversal of form or his luck changes. At the same ratio, Friend and Dickson should lose 24 games since Pittsburgh has played 71 of its 154 games.

Since 1945 only one pitcher in each league lost as many as 20 games. Alex Kellner of the Philadelphia Athletics and Bob Rush of the Chicago Cubs lost that many in 1950.

Sal Maglie notched his 11th triumph despite a shoddy performance as the Giants swept both ends of a doubleheader from the Boston Braves, 8-7 and 4-0. Gerry Staley

★ GRAYSON'S SCOREBOARD ★ Alexander's Fingers Trembled, But He Was Still Winning at 43

BY HARRY GRAYSON
NEA Sports Editor

NEW YORK—(NEA)—When it is considered that Grover Cleveland Alexander was an alcoholic and an epileptic, it borders on the fantastic to recall that he was a winning pitcher in the National League until he was 43.

Too, it always was a puzzle to George Toporcer how a man, whose fingers trembled whenever he held his arm outstretched, could have his remarkable control and steel nerves.

Toporcer recalls twice seeing Alexander in fits.
"Pitching against the Phillies one afternoon, it struck him just as he was going into his windup," he remembers. "He automatically went through with the pitch, arching the ball to the plate, while Don Hurst, the batter, froze in amazement."

"Curiously enough, the ball cut the heart of the plate for a called strike."

"Our players were awed by the fact that, even under such circumstances, Alec could throw a strike. Such was the nature of his marvelous control."

ALTHOUGH there was so much Alex the Great could have boasted about, Toporcer never heard him mention any of his many tremendous achievements.

"The effect of excessive alcohol upon his nervous system caused him to be grumpy and irritable at times," recalls Toporcer. "On occasion he would vent sarcasm at players he thought were softies. That is about all that can be said against him."

"Most managers frowned upon pitchers playing around in the infield, for fear they will smash a finger, but Alec developed quick, sure hands which made him an outstanding fielder of hard-hit balls, even at his advanced age."

After the game in which Alex struck out Tony Lazzeri in the seventh inning of the seventh game of the most celebrated World Series ever played, Toporcer asked him what his reactions were when he was brought in with the bases loaded with Yankees.

"Why should I be any different out there today than any other time?" replied Alec.

"The burden was on Tony.
"And besides, if he did get hold of one, someone might catch it."
Why worry?

Get the ball over and let the other fellow do the worrying."

registered his 10th success in the Cardinals' 7-4 win over Cincinnati.

The White Sox, behind veteran Joe Dobson's five - hit pitching, thrashed Houtteman and the Tigers 7-2. Washington moved up a notch into fourth place, four games behind the Yankees, with a 6-2 decision over the Athletics.

Frank Shea registered his sixth win against two defeats with a neat seven-hitter.

Warning Is Issued With Opening Of Groundhog Season

Groundhog hunting season got underway in Pennsylvania today with the State Game Commission warning trigger-happy hunters to be sure before they shoot.

The commission pointed out that last year four hunters were killed and 22 hurt while hunting groundhogs.

Meanwhile, the State Fish Commission wished anglers well on this opening day for the bass season—simultaneous with the groundhog hunting season.

The Fish Commission predicted an outstanding inland water season for both large and small mouth bass.

Anglers still have until July 31 to fish for trout as well, the commission pointed out. Take your choice, fishermen, was the commission's invitation.

Legal size for black bass during the five-month season is nine inches with the day's catch limited to six.

The Game Commission also predicting a bountiful field for groundhog hunting reminded hunters that five a day is the legal catch throughout the three-month season. There is no season's limit this year.

IN CONVENTION ASSEMBLED: 1884

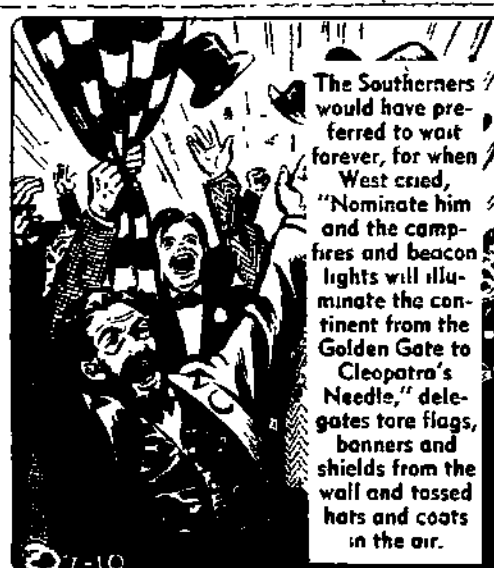

By JAY HEAVILIN and RALPH LANE

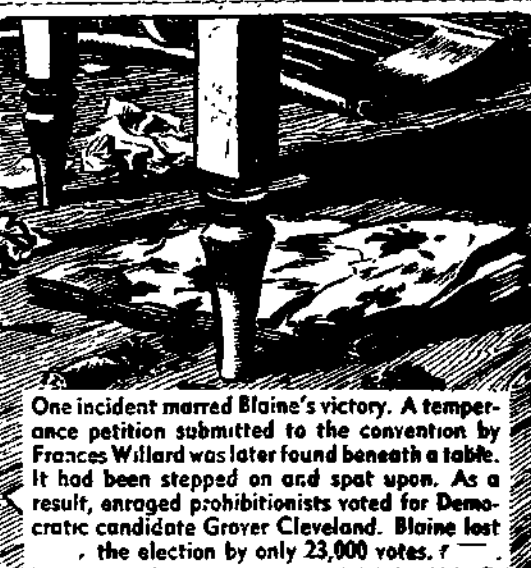

A pistol shot ended President Garfield's career. As Vice President Chester Allen Arthur became President, Secretary of State James Blaine resigned. The stage was set for a knock-down, drag-out battle between the two of the 1884 GOP Convention in Chicago.

Opposition to Blaine, who had suffered two convention defeats, ran strong Southerners, solidly behind President Arthur, waited patiently while Judge William West, blind orator from Ohio, was helped to the stand to begin his nomination speech for Blaine.

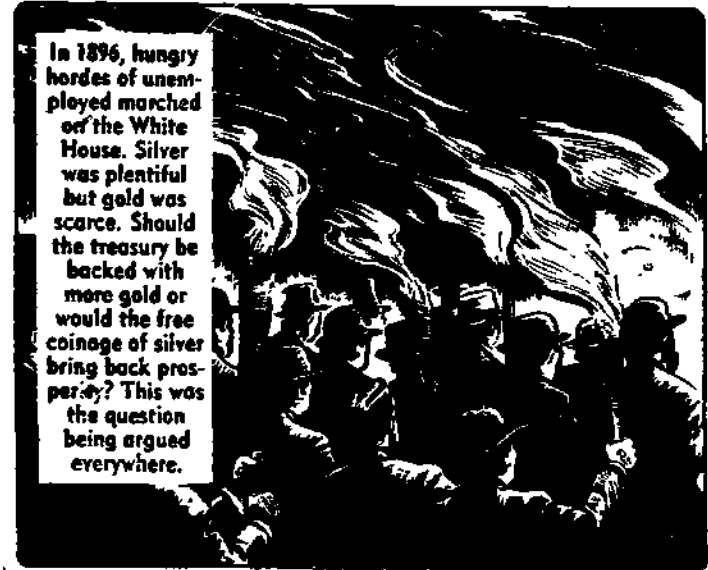

The Southerners would have preferred to wait forever, for when West cried, "Nominate him and the campfires and beacon lights will illuminate the continent from the Golden Gate to Cleopatra's Needle," delegates tore flags, banners and shields from the wall and tossed them in the air.

One incident marred Blaine's victory. A temperance petition submitted to the convention by Frances Willard was later found beneath a table. It had been stepped on and spat upon. As a result, enraged prohibitionists voted for Democratic candidate Grover Cleveland. Blaine lost the election by only 23,000 votes.

IN CONVENTION ASSEMBLED: 1896

By JAY HEAVILIN and RALPH LANE

In 1896, hungry hordes of unemployed men played marbles on the White House. Silver was plentiful but gold was scarce. Should the treasury be backed with more gold or would the free coinage of silver bring back prosperity? This was the question being argued everywhere.

The speech of a 36-year-old delegate attending his first convention decided the Democrats meeting in Chicago in 1896. Cried ex-congressman and newspaper editor William Jennings Bryan, "You shall not press down upon the brow of Labor this crown of thorns, you shall not crucify mankind upon a cross of gold."

Twenty thousand people roared hysterically. Bryan was nominated, his platform adopted. Though he lost the election to Ohio Gov. William McKinley, "Full Dinner Pail" candidate, Bryan had, with a single speech, established himself as the leader of his party.
